25X1 More blue-bordered epaulets with two narrow blue stripes in the middle. [redacted] the MI of the other units who wore the blue uniform during duty hours, had black-bordered blue epaulets. Many MI went on furlough. They too wore blue uniforms with the embroidered yellow BF on black epaulets.

4. On 12 July, many high-ranking officers arrived to celebrate Air Force Day on 13 July. Among the officers were 3 generals in naval uniforms with silver gray epauletts having one, two, and three golden stars respectively. They had trousers with three stripes, namely two wide blue ones and a smaller black one in the middle. [redacted] the generals and other high-ranking officers had come from Suinemuende. (3) A major arrived from Swinemuende on sedan [redacted] Sedans occupied by two captains and a lieutenant

- (2) The caliber of the 40 guns has not been reported.

- (3) From the silver epauletts it is inferred that the officers were high ranking engineer officers of the naval air force. Swinesuende is assumed to be occupied by a supply headquarters which supplies the airfields in this area.
